

Volcom PB&RJ at Sierra

The Volcom Peanut Butter and Rail Jam series for amateur snowboarders returns for another 17-stop North American tour, and it will drop in on Sierra-at-Tahoe on Jan. 2. The PB&RJ series is cool in two ways: There's no cost (other than lift ticket, of course) to enter the competition, which will be separated into four divisions – 15 and under and 16 and over, girls and open – and there will be a bunch of swag (i.e., free prizes and food.) so that everyone who enters walks away with something.
