

Worried about swine flu? Head to Stateline

Want to know if you have swine flu?

The only place to find out on the South Shore is at Stateline Medical Center. Folks there will test people who come in with flu symptoms.

The only way Barton Memorial Hospital will test for H1N1 is if someone is being admitted to the hospital.