

Amador County rancher wants to grow marijuana

Neda Iranpour, CBS 13

SUTTER CREEK – One of the biggest landowners in Amador County is trying to grow what he calls a “miracle drug” on his ranch, but is facing resistance from the city and county.

Robert Allen and his ranch are well known in Amador County – and even has a road named after him – but he says his ranch has potential ranging far beyond his animals.

Read the whole story