

Climb Mount Rose

Summit Mount Rose using a ridge on the foot of Mt. Haughton to gain 200 feet in the first half mile; then cross that ridge to traverse for the next 2 miles with a zero elevation gain.

The final 2.5 miles to the summit is interrupted by only a few switchbacks along the way up the more than 1700ft to the top of this old volcano.

Register in advance for this hike as space is limited. No pets on this hike.
