

Ordinance on cultivating pot in South Tahoe takes shape

The draft ordinance of South Lake Tahoe's marijuana cultivation ordinance is expected to be discussed at next week's pot committee hearing.

More input was given at this week's meeting. Representatives from the three medicinal marijuana collectives, concerned residents, city staff and others are working on crafting language for the ordinance.

The South Lake Tahoe City Council is expected to take up the issue Oct. 19. Council meetings begin at 9am.

The next committee meeting is Sept. 29 at 3pm at Lake Tahoe Airport.

– Compiled by Kathryn Reed