

North Shore bridal event designed to make weddings fun

Here's a revolutionary idea: it's possible for brides-to-be to not only have fun planning their nuptials, but they can also enjoy the actual day stress-free.

Not a believer?

Change your mindset and plan to attend Tahoe Unveiled on Oct. 16 at PlumpJack Squaw Valley Inn, Olympic Valley, where brides will have an opportunity to meet with industry professionals to sharpen their vision of the perfect Tahoe wedding.

Tahoe Unveiled's flowing floor plan will feature various design showcases and displays that are sure to inspire. Sipping Champagne and noshing on tastings from local caterers, it's designed to make attendees feel relaxed and primed for addressing wedding details with the region's wedding vendors.

Featured on the presentation roster is Scott Corridan, In-Style magazine celebrity wedding planner and couture wedding gown designer, whose seminar is irreverently dubbed "Boobs and Butts," which promises to bust myths.

Also, on the agenda is photographer Catherine Hall whose award-winning images have been exhibited in galleries around the world and have appeared in a variety of prestigious publications including the New York Times, Grace Ormonde Wedding Style and Elegant Bride.

In addition to Catherine Hall, Tahoe Unveiled will also host A Day In Your Life, Johnstone Studios and Jessie LeMay Photography. Bellisima Floral, Diana's Floral and Martha Bernyk Floral Design will share floral inspiration. Cortney Knudson, Kiss and Makeup and Kolor By Kori will be on hand for hair and make-up. Other top-shelf vendors include Tunnel

Creek, Wild Goose, Moodys, NorthTahoe Catering, Paper Moon, Swoon Bridal, Crux Events and Party Rents, Hip Entertainment, We Aint Saints, Massage on the Lake, Doxa Studios, La Tavola and Aiko Designs.

Tickets include access to event, wine, Champagne, appetizers and gift bag. Tickets are $25 per person when purchased in advance at www.tahoeunveiled.com and $35 per person at the door.
