

Chef brings home-cooked meals to individuals

Today's fast-paced lifestyle makes it hard to spend time in the kitchen or sit down as a family for a home-cooked meal. Chef 2 U, a personal chef service serving the Sierra foothills, offers a solution to this problem.

Chef David Mori, whose resume includes working as the pastry chef Cal Neva Resort and as a baker for the scientists on Antarctica, started the business to provide a quality at-home dining experience. Chef 2 U offers top quality meals at home for a fraction of the cost of hiring a full-time chef.

"The prices we offer through Chef 2 U are similar to what you will find in restaurants for the same quality meals, with the added convenience of being able to eat at home with the family on your own schedule," Mori said in a press release.

Because menus are created especially for each individual client, Mori is able to cater to special diets and personal preferences.
