

Lecture about feeding a growing world population

Jon Foley, director of the Institute on the Environment at the University of Minnesota, will present "Solutions for a Cultivated Planet: Learning to Feed 9 Billion People While Sustaining the Global Environment" on July 28 from 6:30-8pm at the North Tahoe Event Center in Kings Beach.

The world population is growing by 75 million people each year. That's almost the size of Germany. Today it's close to 7 billion people.

The lecture costs $10.
