

USFS collecting weather data in Meyers

The U.S. Forest Service's Remote Weather Access Station in Meyers is up and running.

The weather station collects vital fire forecasting data such as wind speed and direction, relative humidity, temperature, precipitation depth, fuel moisture and solar radiation.

USFS employees install the weather station.

Photo/Lisa
Herron/USFS