

Warning from USPS about email scam

An email scam is just that – a scam, the U.S. Postal Service warns.

The email appears to be from the post office talking about package delivery or possible online charges, but when people click on the link it installs a virus that can steal personal information.

Report suspicious emails to 800.275.8777 or spam@uspis.gov.