

Green ways to celebrate Independence Day

Huffington Post

Sizzling temperatures, long days and melting popsicles mean one very important thing – the Fourth of July is just around the corner. Independence Day is a time to embrace your patriotic side by doing what Americans do best: having fun!

Unfortunately, some of the best summer activities come with a hefty eco price tag. Here are a few ways to green your favorite Fourth of July pastimes, so you can have your fun while still being kind to the land you live on.

Read the whole story