

Then and now: Gas stations disappear through the years

Highway 50 and Lodi Avenue in 1965.

This is what the intersection looked like in 2002.

The intersection in 2012.
Photos/Bill Kingman

Remember the "50 South Shore gas stations"?

The intersection of Highway 50 and Lodi Avenue had three of them.

The Union 76 station was replaced by today's parking for Magic Carpet mini-golf, and the Standard station was replaced by an office building.

A third station still operates.

– Bill Kingman