

Skier dies at Squaw Valley

By Phillip Reese, Sacramento Bee

A 71-year-old man died Friday after skiing into a tree at Squaw Valley, according to a statement released by resort officials.

The man, whose name has not been released, was skiing on the west face of KT-22 about 11am when he hit the tree. He was wearing a helmet.