

Always yield to emergency vehicles

When you see an emergency vehicle either coming from behind or toward you with its red lights and siren sounding, please give the right-of-way to that ambulance, fire truck, or police car by pulling over to the right side of the road and stopping.

Even if you are in the center turn lane, it's the law that you yield to the right side of the street without blocking the intersection.

Once the vehicles have passed, it is then safe to resume your normal travel path.
