

Decreasing snowfall a chilling reality for winter sports

While winter storms have blasted parts of the Midwest and Northeast, a lack of steady and deep snow – less accumulation and faster melt – has had serious effects for the ski industry. Hari Sreenivasan reports on how winter sports businesses are navigating the season as part of the Coping with Climate Change series.

– PBS News Hour