

Snippets about Lake Tahoe

- Sno-Flake Drive-in in South Lake Tahoe is on the market. “We are just starting our 10th year and we always said we would put it on the market then and go to our next adventure,” owner Duncan Sennott told Lake Tahoe News.
- Gary Romano, author of “Why I Farm”, which was published by Bona Fide Books in Meyers, will talk about the challenges of small farming in the 21st century at Book Passage in the San Francisco Ferry Building on Feb. 11 at 6pm. Romano will also be at the Nevada Small Farm Conference Feb. 20-22 in Sparks.
- Reservations are being taken for the March 3-26 Placer County Sheriff’s Office Community Awareness Academy. For more info or to register, contact Kim Rivera at (530) 889.6922 or krivera@placer.ca.gov.
- The meeting about the near shore for the North Shore has been rescheduled to Feb. 7 from 2:30-4pm at Tahoe City Public Utility Office board room, 221 Fairway Drive, Tahoe City.