

Plane strikes truck on Pyramid Highway

Engine trouble forced a small plane to try to land on Pyramid Highway on Saturday morning.

It struck a moving truck. The two occupants of the truck were not injured. The two people in the plane sustained cuts from broken glass, according to the Nevada Highway Patrol

Part of the highway was closed after the 9am July 26 accident.

The plane was headed to South Dakota from Stead Airport.

The National Transportation Safety Board and FAA are on scene.— Lake Tahoe News staff report
