

Snow in the forecast for Lake Tahoe

Bundle up because the temps are going to drop and white stuff is going to fall.

Expect a dusting of snow at lake level on Saturday. Above 8,000 feet there could be 4 to 6 inches.

The National Weather Service in Reno told Lake Tahoe News the storm that is passing through could impact travel on Sierra passes. For road conditions, click on the state icons on the home page of Lake Tahoe News.

By Sunday the storm is expected to have moved through the region. The highs for this weekend are forecast for the mid to low 50s, with the temp climbing to 69 degrees by Tuesday.

– Lake Tahoe News staff report