

Kerr's new company on EDC supes' agenda

El Dorado County's former assistant chief administrative officer is back – at least on Tuesday's agenda.

The Board of Supervisors on Jan. 27 is being asked to approve a contract with Alliant Insurance Services to provide employee benefit consulting for the Risk Division of the Human Resources Department.

While there is already a contract in place, this would extend it to Jan. 31, 2016, and increase the not to exceed amount from $100,000 to $610,000.

Kim Kerr, the No. 2 for the county, left in December not long after her boss was told to leave by the Board of Supes.

The connection to Tuesday's agenda item is that Kerr now works for Alliant. And while she was with the county she was the one who handled the contract with Alliant.
