

Scholarship available for ag majors

The Nevada Heritage Foundation is accepting applications for the 2015 Continuing Education Scholarship, an award that enables students with an interest in agriculture to pursue their degrees. The application deadline is July 1.

Students currently enrolled in either traditional or non-traditional post-secondary programs may apply. The award winner will receive a $1,000 to use toward his or her education costs.

The successful candidate must be from a Farm Bureau family and must have completed at least one year of post-secondary education. Preference will be given to students pursuing career goals in the agriculture or agriculture business industry. An interview may be required before the recipient is selected.

The scholarship application is available here.

For more info, contact Jill Combs at jillbcombs@gmail.com.