

Nev. won't reopen health care enrollment stores

By Jackie Valley, Las Vegas Sun

The Silver State Health Insurance Exchange will not operate brick-and-mortar enrollment stores during this year's sign-up period for government-subsidized health insurance.

"It wasn't fiscally prudent to walk in that direction," Bruce Gilbert, executive director of the exchange, told board members at a meeting last week.

Last year, the exchange opened two enrollment stores – one in northern Nevada and another at the Boulevard Mall in Las Vegas – where consumers could enroll through Nevada Health Link with the help of insurance brokers and navigators.
