

Nevada the national foreclosure leader

By Eli Segall, Las Vegas Sun

Nevada's housing market started the year on a familiar note, with one of the highest foreclosure rates in the country.

One in every 603 homes statewide received a foreclosure-related filing in January, up 30 percent from December and about 1.5 percent from January 2015, RealtyTrac reported Feb. 19.

Nevada, which last year posted the fourth-highest foreclosure rate in the country, was No. 2 in January.
