

Vonn crashes, carried down hill in sled

By Nick Zaccardi, NBC Sports

Lindsey Vonn crashed and was carried on a sled down the mountain at a World Cup race in Andorra on Saturday.

Vonn was leading under snowfall, about 10 seconds from the finish of the super-G course, when she fell while shifting pressure onto her left leg for a turn.

She slid for six seconds and came to a stop, not running into safety fencing.

Read the whole story