TSA wait is longer at Reno airport

By Marcella Corona, Reno Gazette-Journal

Reno-Tahoe International Airport officials and travelers say they're concerned over longer security lines — a recent nationwide phenomenon.

On average, it takes about 10 minutes to clear through the Transportation Security Administration checkpoint in Reno, spokesman Brian Kulpin said Tuesday. But lately, it's taken longer, he said.

Travelers have complained about the TSA lines on social media, and an influx of travelers this month hasn't helped.

Read the whole story