

Sandoval may not attend GOP convention

By Megan Messerly and Cy Ryan, Las Vegas Sun

Gov. Brian Sandoval he isn't certain he'll attend the Republican National Convention this summer in Cleveland, joining a line of Republican politicians who have expressed reservations about attending the convention or have said they'll skip it altogether.

Sandoval spoke at the national convention in 2012 in Tampa and 2004 in New York City, and called the opportunities "an honor," but he says he hasn't received an invitation to appear on the podium this convention.

Read the whole story