

Don't bet on a white Christmas at Tahoe

By Jenny Kane, Reno Gazette-Journal

Forecasters are having difficulty in predicting whether the Reno-Tahoe area will have a white Christmas this year.

A system that currently is headed toward the Sierra has a 25 to 35 percent chance of bringing precipitation to the Tahoe basin and northward as early as Thursday and possibly through the weekend, according to National Weather Service meteorologist Marvin Boyd.

Read the whole story