

Spartan Race World Championship returns to Squaw

The Reebok Spartan Race World Championship at Squaw Valley will be Sept. 30-Oct. 1.

Elite athletes representing nearly 50 countries will put their skills and endurance to the test in individual and team competitions.

Athletes will compete for more than $100,000 in cash and prizes in the culminating event of the 2017 obstacle racing season at one of the most challenging courses in the world.

In addition to the World Team Championship, which will take place that Sunday, the weekend will feature Beast, Super and Sprint competitions, as well as a Kids Race, for ages 4-13. The event is the culmination of the 2017 Spartan Race Season, following the Global Elite Point Series.

Obstacle Course Racing fans are invited to take in all the action, including viewing access to select obstacles as well as the start and finish line, live music and entertainment, panel discussions, raffles, spectator challenges, vendor tents, and more. The event itself is free to the public, with a VIP spectator package available at $40. Tickets for a dinner with athletes are $40 for adults and $20 for children (13 and under).

For more details on Spartan World Championship events throughout the weekend, go online.