

Tahoe bears trashing cars at trailheads

Vehicles are being ransacked by bears in Tahoe. Photo/USFS

By Katelyn Stark, KTXL-TV

Bears have been ransacking and ripping apart cars recently at a South Shore trailhead, according to the U.S. Forest Service.

Photographs posted by Desolation Wilderness volunteer ranger Charlie McCarthy show the backseat windows of three cars bent and torn from their frames. One car's interior appears to have been mauled, large chunks of yellow foam scattered throughout.

Read the whole story