

Apple watch apps now track ski performance

By Katie Roof, Tech Crunch

Skiers, rejoice!

It just got a lot easier to track your mountain treks.

Due to an Apple watch update that combines GPS and altimeter (altitude) measuring, ski apps are now able to quantify performance. If you're wondering how many calories you've burned or how fast you were going, all that data is available and more.

Read the whole story