

Democratic challenger outraises McClintock – again

By Emily Cadei, Sacramento Bee

For Congressman Tom McClintock, a new year hasn't changed a fundamental campaign weakness. The veteran Republican lawmaker was again outraised by his leading Democratic challenger, Jessica Morse, in the first three months of 2018, new federal fundraising reports disclose.

It marks the third quarter in a row that Morse has outraised McClintock, leaving her with more cash in the bank going into a crucial phase of the campaign.

Read the whole story