

Slew of tennis events in Zephyr Cove

With winter in the rearview mirror, it is time to look forward to non-snow sports. Zephyr Cove Tennis Club has a calendar full of activities for this season.

The nets are up at the six courts. Play is free through the end of April, with membership required starting May 1. Cost is $90 for the season, which includes the ability to reserve courts, participate in club events for free or at a reduced cost, and to receive regular updates about all things tennis. Membership information is available online.

Returning May 1 for his second year as head pro at the tennis club is Dave Nostrant. He is increasing his offerings this year in terms of lessons for all abilities, as well as multi-day camps.

Viva La Tennis on May 26 is the official start to the club's tennis season. The doubles event is for current, new and prospective players of all levels and ages. It starts at noon. No need to have a partner. It is free for 2018 club members, $15 for others. It includes a barbecue and lots of tennis. Pay your membership dues that day and the tournament is free.

Zephyr Cove Tennis Club Foundation runs the programs at Zephyr Cove Park under a multi-year agreement with Douglas County. An all-volunteer board is in charge, with members volunteering to help in various aspects.

The first activity is the annual cleanup day on May 18 from 9am-noon. This is when members and others spruce up the grounds. Bring gloves and a rake, if you have them, to participate.
