

Winter popping up for holiday weekend

By Molly Sullivan, Sacramento Bee

You may need to bring your winter coat in Tahoe for Memorial Day weekend.

An unseasonably cool weather system is moving into California on Friday, the National Weather Service said.

There's a chance of showers and thunderstorms in the South Lake Tahoe forecast for Friday and into Saturday.

Read the whole story