

Ski report: Morning skiing bound to be the best

Get out on the mountain early today. More weather is coming today. And that means winds will be increasing.

Here is the Dec. 4 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Lots of virgin powder

Lots of fresh snow to ski on. And the sun is out.

Here is the Dec. 3 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Less than ideal conditions

It's another challenging day for resorts because of extreme winds and weather.

Heavenly, Kirkwood, Sierra, Boreal, Mt. Rose, Sugar Bowl and Squaw Valley are closed.

Comstock at Northstar is on wind hold

Sierra Avalanche Center is reporting a danger level of 4 – high.

Here is the Dec. 2 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Wind not letting up

Time to find a resort not impacted by wind.

Sugar Bowl and Mt. Rose are closed today. Heavenly and Squaw are starting the day on wind hold.

Here is the Dec. 1 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Blustery day all day

Wind and weather are going to make for less than ideal conditions the slopes today.

Heavenly is starting on wind hold. The upper mountains of Squaw Valley and Kirkwood are also on wind hold.

Here is the Nov. 30 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Hang on because the wind is howling

While the brunt of the next storm is not expected to arrive until tonight, the wind is causing problems this morning. Mt. Rose won't be opening today. Heavenly is starting on wind hold.

Here is the Nov. 29 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Wet weather on its way

Get out early today because wet weather is moving in. A more significant storm system is coming through Thursday evening.

Here is the Nov. 28 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Calm before the storm

Weather will be moving in on Wednesday and is expected to stay in the Lake Tahoe Basin through the weekend.

Here is the Nov. 27 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: A ton of sun

Be sure to bring sunscreen and proper eye protection to the slopes. Temps will be in the 50s today.

Here is the Nov. 26 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Enjoy the sun while it lasts

It's another beautiful day to hit the slopes.

More snow is predicted for this coming Wednesday and Thursday. Keep your fingers crossed for 18 inches.

Here is the Nov. 25 ski report.

– Curtis Fong