

Ski report: It's a goggle day

There is a chance of isolated snow showers above 6,500 feet. Winds will be light to moderate.

Take good goggles today.

Here is the April 6 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Resorts starting to close

These are the last three days of the season to ski at Diamond Peak and Homewood Mountain Resort.

Here is the April 5 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Snow coming to mountaintops

Unsettled weather will be moving through Tahoe for the next few days. The snow level will be above 8,500 feet. Dress for changing conditions.

Wind could impact lifts this afternoon.

Here is the April 4 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Radar shows storm coming

Get on the mountain today because a weather system is on its way to Lake Tahoe tonight.

Here is the April 3 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Season is winding down

Spring conditions have returned.

Most resorts will remain open through April 14.

Here is the April 2 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: All resorts closed for the day

Watch out for pranksters on the slopes (or writing LTN headlines) – it is April Fools' Day, after all.

Here is the April 1 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Hop on over to the slopes

Happy Easter! Lots of Easter family activities are offered at the resorts.

Snow showers and possible thunderstorms today.

Fresh snow is reported in the higher elevations and wet packed snow starting at the lower elevations.

Here is the Easter ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: It may rain on your fun

There is a chance of thunderstorms in the afternoon, so dress for changing conditions. Snow levels will be above 8,000 feet.

Lots of events today:

- U.S. Freestyle Championships at Heavenly has moved up the dual moguls competition to this morning with aeriels later this afternoon and fireworks tonight.
- Sierra-at-Tahoe is hosting Ski with Maddie Bowman Day in the half pipe and the Tanner Hall Invitational in the West Bowl.
- Kirkwood Cross Country Center has a Sunset Snowshoe Tour.
- Sugar Bowl has the Boarding for Breast Cancer Shred the Love Rail Jam.
- Squaw Valley has the Pain McShlonkey Fun Event.

Here is the March 30 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Freshies on south end of lake

Kirkwood and Heavenly are reporting fresh snow at higher elevations.

Here is the March 30 ski report.

– Curtis Fong

Ski report: Snow possible at 7,000 feet

Isolated and scattered showers today, with snow level above 7,000 feet.

Here is the March 28 ski report.

– Curtis Fong